THE HIDDEN LINE.

The following lines are now generally known to be from the pen of Dr. J. Addison

Alexander. It is one of those productions

There is a time, we know not when,

A point we know not where,

That marks the destiny of men

There is a line by us unseen, .

The hidden boundary between God's patience and his wrath.

It does not quench the beaming eye, Or pale the glow of health.

The conscience may be still at ease,

That which is pleasing still may please, And care be thrust away.

And yet the doomed man's path below,

May bloom as Eden bloomed. He did not, does not, will not know,

He knows, he feels that all is well,

He lives, he dies, he wakes in hell, Not only doomed, but damned.

O! where is this mysterious bourne,

By which our path is crossed; Beyond which, God himself hath sworn

How far may we go in sin?

How long will God forbear?

Where does hope end, and where begin

A Child's Dream of a Star.

BY CHARLES DICKENS.

That crosses every path ;

To pass that limit is to die,

To die as if by stealth;

The spirits light and gay;

But on that forehead God has set,

Indelibly a mark; Unseen by man, for man as yet Is blind and in the dark.

Or feel that he is doomed.

And every fear is calmed;

That he who goes is lost.

The confines of despair.

An answer from the skies is sent,

While it is called TO-DAY, repent,

"Ye that from God depart;

And harden not your hearts

of genius which never die:

To glory or despair.
